

Holiday Greeting

2012

I got a call from a Mack salesman named John,
Who asked me "Hey, what the heck's goin' on?!"

Not with our new truck, or a bill that we owe 'em
He just wanted to know, "what's up with no poem?"

He goes to AyersSanitation.com this time every year,
To see what is new, and for some Holiday cheer.

I hemmed and hawed, with no way to excuse,
the plain simple fact that I'd just lost my muse.

A couple rough years, in a really tough biz,
But no more complaining, it is what it is.

We've made a few changes in the way we do things,
Some have caused some confusion, the phone rings and rings.

The one that has given so many a fit,
Is when we pick up their stuff, with a truck that is split.
One side packs your garbage, as we roll down the roads,
While the other is for recyclables, two separate loads!

Your recyclables can now be all loose in a can,
If its not too big and heavy, to be dumped by one man.

If your call to the office is answered "Jibby-Jibby,"
It's no foreign call center, you're just talking to Libby.

Flossie's great-granddaughter, and a bit of a ham,
She "works" in the office, with her Mom and her Gram.

It's still a real family operation, we're happy to say,
And as long as we can, we'll keep it that way.

So from our whole family, and the guys on the crew,
Our best holiday wishes, we send out to you!

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR!
